PROPOSED PACIFIC ABLE.

Messrs. Fleming and Mcer Interview the Hawaiian Government.

No Special Concession Allowed Because of the Tats With the U. S.

San Francisco, Oct. 20.—e United Press correspondent at Hono, writing under date of October 13ther steamship Australia, which arrivehis morning, says:

Two commissioners recentarrived in Honolulu for the purpose olegotiating with the Hawaiian governmt for concessions to the projected able from British Columbia to Austral. They are Hon. Sanford Fleming, wl represents the Dominion of Canada, a Mr. Mercer, from the British foreigoffice. H. B. M. Minister Hawse is operating with them. Several informconferences have ben held with thevernment. Yesterday a special confnce took place. One of their propitions concerned a possible occupatidof Neckar island as a cable station, his island, 400 miles w. n. w. from Holulu, was formally taken possession oy the Hawaiian government last M in antidipation of a probable occupion by H. M. s. Champion. That shipas recently visited Neckar island, and ma soundings to determine the practibility of landing a cable there. Mes. Fleming and Mercer also discussed th the government the question of cessions for landing the cable near Holulu. The attitude of the governmenin replying to the commissioners was arse to making any special concessionsf any sort, on account of prior exclusi treaty engagements with the Unitedtates. Their position was stated by leag members of the government last eving as follows:

"We are positively bound r our treaty of reciprocity with the Uitel States not to make any concessis whatever of land or of special rightso any other government whatsoever."

"Can you not lease land the British government for any purpo, as for instance a site on the islan for a cable station?"

"No, we wish to be extmely scrupulous about this, so as to ard the United States no pretence for progafing the treaty."

"But cannot the Briti government lease land of private parties for cable purposes?"

"Oh, of course they can do that and use the site for a cable station, but they can have no special privileges."

There is strong ground for the opinion that the commissioners do not really desire to occupy any of the western islets for the cable station, but decidedly prefer Honolulu, if they can secure any special concessions here. They, however, hold such more distant possible occupation before this government as a motive for more favorable concessions, in order to secure cable service directly to Honolulu. There seems to be no doubt that England will be compelled to adopt Oahu as her cable station in this part of the Pacific. England of course understands that the United States will firmly support the right of Hawaii to deny concessions to the former power.

H. B. M. ship Hyacinth left this morning for Mird island to make soundings and examine the landings for a possible coaling station.

Among the steamer Australia's passengers to-day was .M. Hoffnung, late King Kalakaua's minister at London, and Col. George W. McFarlane. The latter emphatically denied the rumor that the queen was becoming insane. "Her majesty is in splendid health," said he, "and is no more out of her mind than I am. As to the state of affairs in Hawaii, on the surface everything was quiet when I left." From other passengers on the steamer it was learned that an under current of disquiet prevailed. Whenever the troops went out to drill the citizens' reserve was notified to be in readiness to defend the palace if called upon. The government was going on its way apparently paying no attention to the rumors, but at the same time was prepared to act on a moment's notice.

VERY CONTRADICTORY.

The Reports Concerning the Czar's Condition Appear to be Guesswork.

Not Much Credit Given the Rumor That He is the Victim of Foul Play.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 20.—Conflicting rumors regarding the czar are increasing. No information can be obtained in official circles.

Berlin, Oct. 20.—General Von Werder, German ambassador to Russia, lately visiting in Berlin, yesterday in consequence of receipt of urgent communications from the Russian embassy here, went to the palace and had an audience with the kaiser. At its conclusion the ambassador started for St. Petersburg. Telegrams from St. Petersburg say the czar's physicians have decided that his majesty is suffering from blood poisoning. At the foreign office news of the czar's death is expected at any moment.

Paris, Oct. 20.—The Figaro says the sister of the czarina received an official message a fornight ago saying the czar was suffering from a tumor above his left breast, and that one physician declared it to be of a cancerous nature.

London, Oct. 19.—The Standard in a leader says: We shrink from speculating upon the consequences that may result in Asia as well as in Europe when life so valuable as that of the czar ends. Seldom has there been in recent times a moment when the czar might, for good or evil, be so potent a factor in the fortunes of the east. Without expecting the collapse of China, the time must soon come when the problem of the far east must be taken into account. When that crisis arrives it will be a misfortune to the world if Russia's policy shall be guided by any other hand than his.

London, Oct. 20.—The News publishes a dispatch from Livadia giving the czar's physician as authority for saying that the czar has suffered serious convulsions during the last forty-eight hours and been unconscious at times. There is no hope of his recovery.

Vienna, Oct. 20.—Dispatches received from authentic sources in Livadia say the czar spent most of the day out of bed and frequently walks up and down the room.

Paris, Oct. 20.—At the 11 o'clock cabinet council at the palace of the Elysee to-day Premier Dupuy announced that he had received an official telegram informing him that the czar's condition was slightly improved.

London, Oct. 20.—A Paris dispatch says the rumor that the czar is a victim of foul play is discredited here, except in the Russian quarter. It is generally believed that he is a victim of neglect.

Paris, Oct. 20.—The last dispatch from St. Petersburg says the news from Livadia represents the czar's condition as hopeless. Prayers for his recovery are offered in all parts of Russia.

HAWAIIAN POLITICS.

The Annexation Party Hopes to Carry the Elections.

San Francisco, Oct. 20.—The United Press correspondent at Honolulu writes: A meeting of delegates of the American union party convenes this afternoon to nominate senators and representatives to be elected on October 20th. No other ticket is likely to be in the field. Annexation will be the leading plank in the platform. Candidates on the other islands are less clearly pledged to annexation. Many of the planters are opposed to it, as being likely to interfere with the labor supply, which is Asiatic at present. It is probable that a strong majority of the coming legislature will support annexation.

A RATE WAR IN PROSPECT.

Western American Roads and C. P. R. Lines Likely to Have a Warm Contest.

Canadian Line and Its Ally Accused of Cutting Below the Rate Agreed Upon.

New York, Oct. 20.—The Herald publishes the following: A war of passenger commissions, and possibly one of open rates also, is inevitable between the western roads and the Canadian Pacific and Soo lines. Nothing came of the two days' conference in New York between the advisory board of the Western Passenger association and the representatives of the Canadian lines, and yesterday most of the association members made haste to return home in order to prepare for developments. After the western railroads made peace with the trunk lines association in the matter of routing immigrant passengers west of Chicago, the question of how to curb the Canadian lines came up. The latter have been at their old tricks again, particularly with reference to traffic from the Northwest to Europe, on which a rate of $25.50 has openly been made, while secret commissions are said in some cases to have brought the rate down to nearly $20. The standard rate via the Western Association railroad and trunk lines is $27.50. The Canadian roads have long taken a bigger differential than they were considered entitled to, with the result that they got more than their share of the business. It was decided to make one more effort to reach an agreement with the Canadian companies, and accordingly General Passenger Agent C. B. Hibbard, of the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie, and General Passenger Agent D. McNicol, of the Canadian Pacific, were invited to attend a conference in New York this week. It was finally agreed to allow the Canadian lines a differential of about $2 between St. Paul and New York, on condition that they would agree to a division of the traffic satisfactory to the lines in the Western association. The latter point was the chief stumbling-block, for the Canadian Pacific has become accustomed to getting such a large part of the business that the share allotted to it seemed ridiculous. The meeting broke up after two days of wrangling, and now it is simply a matter of the advisory board making a report recommending action to the Western passenger associations at a meeting to be held in Chicago next Tuesday. It is understood that the advisory board is practically unanimous for recommending the payment of any commissions and naming any rates that are necessary to meet the Canadian lines. The Soo line has been reaching down into the local territory of Wisconsin and Minnesota wherever it could add the local rates to the through rate and leave the total less than the standard rate via Chicago. It is quite likely that the Western Passenger association will appoint one or two companies reaching Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis to do the fighting and all the other members agreeing to share the expenses. To carry on the struggle successfully, it was necessary also to get the support of the eastern lines. As the competition is mainly east bound at the present time, the central traffic lines, it is reported, will join hands with the Western association on any commissions necessary to meet the Soo. The trunk lines also, it is believed, have assured them of their support, which would seem to be necessary when the smallness of the total rate and the size of the commission are considered. The Soo line's through rate from St. Paul to Liverpool, $27.50, minus the ocean fare, $10, leaves only $15.50 as the railroad's proportion of the rate. As a good sized commission comes off from the latter figure, the western lines could not fight the battle single handed without playing a losing game, hence their request for the cooperation of the eastern railroads. Of course it will not be formally decided to fight the Soo line with commissions until next Tuesday's meeting of the western lines, and even then it will be done very quietly. There will be no open rate cutting as long as possible, so as to prevent the general demoralization of passenger rates.

FOUR WERE KILLED.

Result of a Mob's Attempt to Lynch a Negro.

Washington Court House, O., Oct 19.—This place is as quiet as though rioting and bloodshed had never been seen within its borders. The withdrawal of the last detachment of soldiers acted like a soothing potion upon the halfcrazed people. William Samm died tonight, which increases the list of killed to four. Theodore Ammeran is dying, and F. L. Nitterhouse can hardly survive until morning. Little George Keating, whose injuries were thought at first to be surely fatal, may recover, but he will be horribly maimed.

The feeling against Colonel Colt and his troops was so intense this morning that had they remained in town further rioting and bloodshed could not have been avoided. Charges will be preferred against him by responsible citizens, and a court martial will be asked. Indignation against Sheriff Cook is as fierce as against Colonel Colt. Leading Republicans are circulating petitions asking for Cook's removal from the Republican ticket, upon which he is a candidate for re-election. It is believed that there would have been no trouble whatever had the militia not been called out. No words in defence of the guards who fired last night can be heard. They shot without warning into a public street crowded with people, most of whom had been called out by an alarm of fire and were returning home. When it broke out the streets were comparatively deserted, and not more than 150 people were about the court house. The fronts of buildings facing south from the court house show the results of the fusilade in broken glass and shattered masonry.

Twenty-four people were wounded, and among them were two women. One boy was killed outright, four men have since died of their injuries and three more are fatally hurt.

Columbus, Oct. 19.—Jasper Dolby, the negro sentenced at Washington Court House to twenty years' imprisonment for criminal assault on Mrs. Mary C. Boyd, an aged white woman, was landed in the penitentiary at 7 o'clock this morning. He was escorted by Sheriff Cook and Deputy Busick, accompanied on the train by troops. The prisoner was taken from the train at Dennison avenue and walked to the prison. The military remained in the cars and were carried to the union station.

A reporter who came with the train says that after midnight things quieted down. The citizens had nearly all gone home, yet many people stood on neighboring corners until a much later hour discussing the affair. The militia, until 3.30 a. m., numbered less than one hundred men. Against the hundreds of men called into or about the court house this small band had to keep up a determined front for twelve or fifteen hours. Finally the First regiment from Cincinnati and two companies of the Fourteenth at Columbus arrived about 3. 30 a.m. A square was formed by the men of the Fourteenth, and, escorted by the First, the line of march for the cars was taken up, the negro being within the square. The prisoner was in the court house for about twelve hours, the officers not daring to attempt to return him to jail after sentence had been passed.

The prisoner stated to the prison officials that he was not guilty, but entered the plea of guilty because he had been informed that he was to be mobbed. He was clearly indentified by his victim.

Gov. McKinley, being asked about the affair, said: "The act speaks for itself. Troops were sent to act in aid of the civil authorities, who were powerless to quell a mob that was seeking to overthrow the law and its orderly administration." The governor says he will not leave Ohio as long as there is a possibility of trouble. He has cancelled his engagements at Louisville and Nashville.

Washington Court House, Oct. 20.—The father of Smith Welsh, one of the men killed by the militia, when the mob fired upon on Wednesday night, has made an affidavit on which it is proposed to cause the arrest of Col. A. B. Coit and Major John C. Speaks of the 14th regiment of this city, on a charge of murder. Colonel Coit said to-night that no warrant had yet been served on him. He said further that he did not give the order to fire, for he was in another part of the court house at the time and Lieut. Oyler was in command, but it was the only thing to do. The mob had broken down the doors of the court house and a shot had been fired at the militia from the mob before the soldiers fired. Col. Coit says the coroner has found that the bullet that killed Welsh was a 32 calibre revolver ball and therefore he must have been killed by some one in the mob and not by the militia. A number of reputable people of Washington Court House have charged that Col. Coit was drunk, but all the newspaper correspondents who were in the crowd exonerated him from this charge. Theodore Ammerman, one of the wounded, died to-day, making the fifth victim.

A DESPERATE MURDERER.

He Makes Two Breaks for Liberty on His Way to Court.

Seattle, Oct. 19.—Thomas Blanck, alias Frank Hamilton, the slayer of Wm. Jeffrey, the murderer of Charles Bridwell and would-be killer of Detective Edward Cudihee, yesterday fully maintained his reputation as being the most desperate criminal ever dealt with by the officers of the law of this city. Foreseeing that the jury would find him guilty of murder in the first degree, he made two desperate attempts in close succession to escape from his guards, fighting each time like an infuriated wild beast at bay, and when forced to abandon active resistance was taken into the court room only by the main force of four men. Once in the court room he was docile enough, but by observing him closely it could be seen that he was watching his guards every moment from the corners of his eyes. Undoubtedly there would have been another scene if Sheriff Woolery had not placed four men around the desperado, two of whom held his wrists in chains throughout the proceedings. The day was one of surprises all around, for the crowd especially, because only a few knew what Blanck had done until some time after Attorney Fairfield arose and informed the court that the defence had no testimony to introduce. Mr. Fairfield's plea to the jury for a verdict of murder in the second instead of the first degree was one of the finest efforts ever witnessed in a murder trial in King county, but Prosecuting Attorney Miller had the facts on his side, and won the day, as had been expected. The prisoner was found guilty of murder in the first degree.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT.

Eldest Son of the Marquis of Queensberry Shoots Himself.

London, Oct. 19.—Vicount Drumlanrig, 26 years old, eldest son of the Marquis of Queensberry, was accidentally shot in the head yesterday while shooting over the coveys of Quantock Lodge, Bridgewater, Somersetshire, the residence of Edward J. Stanley, a member of the house of commons. The viscount's grandfather met his death by the accidental discharge of his own gun at Kinmount in 1858. A former viscount was killed by the accidental discharge of his own pistol in 1745. This accident changed the succession to the title, with the result that the Dukes of Buccleuch became the Dukes of Buccleuch and Queensberry. The Duke of Buccleuch's eldest son, Lord Dalkeith, was accidentally killed while deer stalking in 1886. Viscount Drumlanrig's uncle, Lord Francis Douglas, was also accidentally killed by a fall from the Matterhorn in 1865.

Viscount Drumlanrig dropped in the rear of the party to-day. A shot was heard, but no notice was taken of it. Later, as he failed to join the party, the others went in search of him and found him lying against a hedge with his head terribly injured. He died before the doctors could arrive.

THE RUSSIAN RULER.

May Be Dead and His Death Concealed —Opinions of the Czarewitch.

London, Oct. 19.—Dispatches from all parts of the continent show that the whole European press is brimming with articles on the czar. The vast majority of the writers praise him for his love of peace. Speculation as to the czarewitch's future policy is rife. No two estimates of his character agree. Many of them are exceedingly unfavorable.

The censorship of the St. Petersburg press is reported as being unusually strict. The newspapers which announced yesterday that Father Ivan, better known as Holy John, had been summoned from Cronstadt to Livadia, were seized by the police.

The Allgemine Zeitung, in Vienna, suggested this evening that the czar was already dead and the fact was concealed, as it was in the case of Emperor Nicholas I.

The Russian embassy in Rome received a dispatch to-day saying that a miracle alone could save the czar's life. Prayers are offered hourly in the Russian cathedral and daily in the Russian churches and the chapels of the Russian embassies in the European capitals.

The Standard's St. Petersburg correspondent says: "It is intended unless events precipitate matters to declare a government council on the 29th, when the senate will assemble, and thus avoid the word 'regent.' The council will consist of the czarewitch, Grand Duke Michael and Councillors Bunge and Selisky."

The correspondent of the Times at St. Petersburg telegraphs: "The czar has now taken to his bed and his imperial relatives are gathering around him. With an organic disease such as his the continued decline of strength is one of the most alarming symptoms. A service conducted by the Metropolitan Palladius in the St. Isaac cathedral to-day was attended by a vast crowd of people in full uniform and civilian dress. Among the dignitaries were the minister of war, the minister of the interior, minister of finance and minister of justice, who had just returned to the capital. There was also present the German charge d'affaires, Count Read. Special services are being held in all the churches.

IS THE AMEER DEAD?

British More Popular Than Formerly in Afghanistan.

Simla, Oct. 19.—It is believed in government circles that the ameer of Afghanistan is dead, although no official confirmation has been received. In view of his reported demise the situation at Cabul is reported to be serious. Nothing has been heard of Engineer Pyne or the other Europeans at Cabul for a number of days past. Ghoalam Haider Khan, the Afghan commander in chief, is believed to be absent from Cabul on a tour of inspection. This is looked on as being a good sign, as the khan is a violent anti-foreigner.

London, Oct. 19.—T. A. Martin, the London agent of the ameer of Afghanistan for the past nine years, in an interview in regard to the situation of affairs at Cabul, says: "If the ameer knew that his death was near at hand and that the lives of the Europeans at Cabul would be in danger, he would take every step possible in order to secure their safety.

"I hope to hear of the arrival of the Europeans in India at any moment. Afghanistan has immensely changed under the rule of the ameer, and the British are more liked than formerly. I know that the ameer told me that the whole feeling of the inhabitants of Afghanistan was against Russia, and the ameer discouraged trade with the Russians in every possible way."

THE BICLE IN WAR.

An English Expement to Demonstrate Its Uulness.

The practise of cycling has increased with such astonishing rapidity as to have become one of the distinguishing features of modern society. The connection of this art with the devolpment of an extended system of good roads is obviously very close and as the roads of this country are still to a great extent ill constructed, the use of the bicycle may be regarded as here in its infancy. In the older countries, where the density of population is such as to make the expense of building perfect roads tolerable, bicyclers have multiplied to such an extent as to far outnumber apparently, those who use horses. One satisfactory result of this new system for tourists promises to be the rehabilitation of the wayside inn; an institution which was practically ruined in this country by the decay of the stagecoach. An experiment recently tried in England shows that it is not improbable that the art of war may receive some modifications from this new method of movement.

A club of cyclists wishing to show what might be done in the way of carrying dispatches in time of war, when other means of communication had broken down, asked the war office to let them carry a dispatch from London to Edinburg and bring back a reply. The war office, with the usual stupidity of government bureau, declined to have anything to do with the matter, but it was arranged with the Pall Mall Gazette that the offices in the two cities should be used as termini. Relays of cyclists, riding in pairs to avoid loss of time by accident, were duly stationed, and the letter once started was carried through England, as the Spectator says, like a fiery cross. The weather was extremely bad, the rain falling in torrents and a head wind being encountered all the way to Edinburg. Nevertheless between 10 o'clock of a Thursday morning and 2:27 of the next Saturday the dispatch was carried to its destination and the answer brought back. The distance of 800 miles was thus covered in 52 hours and 27 minutes, an average of 15 1-4 miles an hour. In the best days of coaching the shortest time made between London and Edinburg was 42 hours and 23 minutes. Such a result as this will open the eyes of the war offices of the continent if not of England. It indicates that we may presently see bodies of cyclists attached as orderlies to the staff of every general. Nor is it improbable that such a body would not take the place, for many purposes, of calvary. The same causes that lead men to sell their horses and take to bicycles will be operative in military economy. In this peaceful land we may not witness such development of bicycling as this, but we shall be contented if it leads to the improvement of our roads and hostelries.—New York Evening Post.

LIFE BECAME A BURDEN.

THE WONDERFUL NARRATIVE OF A PATIENT SUFFERER.

The After Effects of La Grippe Developed Into Inflammation of the Lung and Chronic Bronchitis—After Four Years of Suffering Health is Almost Miraculously Restored.

From LeMond, Montreal.

Mrs. Sarah Cloutier, who resides at No. 405 Montcalm street, Montreal, has passed through an experience which is worthy of a widespread circulation for the benefit that it may prove to others. Up to four years ago Mrs. Cloutier's health had been good, but at that time she was attacked by that dread scourge, la grippe. Every fall since, notwithstanding all her care to avoid it, she has been afflicted with inflammation of the lungs, which would bring her to the very verge of death. This was followed by bronchia for the rest of the year. Her bronchial tubes were affected to such an extent that it was with difficulty she could breathe, and a draught of outside air would make her cough in the most distressing manner. "I had," said Mrs. Cloutier to a reporter, "a constant rattling sound in my throat, and in the state I was in death would have been a relief. I could not attend to my affairs nor to my house, and had it not been for my niece, on whom I relied, I cannot say what would have become of me. It was in vain that I tried the numerous remedies given me by various doctors, and when I think of all the money they cost me I cannot but regret I have ever tried them. I had read frequently of the cures effected by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I felt that they must contain the truth, for if they were unfounded none would dare to give the names and addresses of the persons said to be cured in the public newspapers. I decided to try Pink Pills, and none but those who were acquainted with my former condition can understand the good I have derived from their use, which I continued until I felt that I was completely cured. As a proof that I am cured I may tell you that on the first occasion of my going out after my recovery I walked for two miles on an uphill road without feeling the least fatigue or the least pant for breath, and since that time I have enjoyed the best of health. Last fall I was afraid that the inflammation of the lungs to which I had been subject at that period of former years might return, but I had not the least symptom of it, and never felt better in my life. You can imagine the gratitude I feel for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I recommend them to all who will heed my advice, and I do not think it possible for me to say too much in favor of this wonderful remedy, the use of which in other cases as well as mine has proved invaluable.

A depraved or watery condition of the blood or shattered nerves are the two fruitful sources of almost every disease that afflicts humanity, and to all sufferers Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are offered with a confidence that they are the only perfect and unfailing blood builder and nerve restorer and that where given a fair trial disease and suffering must vanish. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers or will be sent by mail on receipt of 50 cents a box or $2.50 for six boxes, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y. Beware of imitations and always refuse trashy substitutes alleged to be "just as good."

ELEVATION OF SATOLLI.

Nothing As Yet Definitely Decided Upon.

Rome, Oct. 19.—Information from the vatican makes it possible to give details about the cardinalate to be given Mgr. Satolli and the retirement of Mgr. Satolli's secretary, Father Papi, from the vatican staff in order to join the Jesuit order. There have been denials of the report of Father Papi's move, but the facts are now learned beyond question. Four months ago Father Papi applied here for his exeat. The request was very broad, and contemplated a retirement from official connections with the vatican's foreign service and the prospective honors it had in store for him. It was made known that he desired to retire from the world and devote his life in the Jesuit order to study and teaching. To this end he applied to the provincial of the Jesuit order in New York for admission, and on the granting of his exeat here he would have been transferred. [illegible] premature reports of Father Papi's intention. It was felt also, by those having the Jesuits' interests at heart, that the accession of Mgr. Satolli's secretary to the Jesuits might arouse criticism, on the ground that the one best informed of the confidential transactions of the ablegate had joined an order popularly supposed to be opposed to Mgr. Satolli. While this criticism would be groundless, it was deemed advisable to avoid the possible cause of a "Jesuit trick." For this reason, it is believed, the New York provincial will advise Father Papi to wait a year or two before making his exeat and joining the new order, by which time Father Papi's confidential relations with Mgr. Satolli will have terminated.

Concerning the cardinalate to be conferred on Mgr. Satolli, there appears to be no grounds for the reports that notice of the appointment had been forwarded to the ablegate. The consistory of the vatican, which advises with the pope in the creation of cardinals, does not meet until next month, so the actual determination of his appointment will not be made until then. Meantime there are seven names under consideration, from which number it is considered certain that the cardinals will be named, Mgr. Satolli among the seven. There are no further American names among those under consideration. It is said the conferring of the red hat on Mgr. Satolli will be celebrated at Cardinal Gibbons' church in Baltimore, and that several noblemen of high rank and distinguished prelates will go from here as the personal representatives of the pope.

There is a doubt yet as to whether Mgr. Satolli's cardinalate will carry jurisdiction over a diocese, or will be purely honorary. Cardinal Gibbons is also archbishop of the Baltimore diocese, including Virginia, Maryland and the district of Columbia, which makes him a prominent as well as an honorary prelate. Whether a diocese will be created for the new cardinal is still undetermined, but it is probable that his jurisdiction over questions between bishops and priests and other church conflicts will be regarded as equivalent to a diocese. All of the papers in these trials are in Latin, and as Mgr. Satolli is a perfect Latin scholar, as well as a master of common law, he is considered better qualified for the work than for supervision over the active labors of a diocese. The title is likely, therefore, to be honorary, without the supplementary power of an archbishop. Yet, as the personal representative of the pope in America, the new cardinal will occupy a position higher than that which the powers of an archbishop could bring to him.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 19.—The renewed reports that Mgr. Satolli is to be created a cardinal are not doubted here, although the Catholic dignitaries cannot verify the statement that official notice has been received that the ceremony will occur within two or three weeks. Mgr. Satolli is absent in Canada, but his assistant, Mgr. Sbaretti, said no notice had been received, so far as he knew. Such communications will go to Mgr. Satolli, however. The ablegate, it was added, had not made known any such facts to his household.

When Bishop Keane, rector of the Catholic university, recently returned from Rome he gave an interview based on his talk with the pope, in which Bishop Keane stated that the pope's encyclical next month would elevate the American ablegate's household, and that Mgr. Satolli would be made a cardinal in the course of time. The present reports appear to be in line with Bishop Keane's semi-official statement. The bishop was not at the university to-day, but the vice-rector, Rev. Dr. Carrigan, said that nothing was known farther than has already been stated by Bishop Keane.

DROWNED IN THE COLUMBIA.

A Seattleite Lost His Life Near Revelstoke on Wednesday.

Revelstoke, Oct. 17.—Andrew McPherson was drowned in the Columbia river this morning at Eight Mile camp, a few miles above Revelstoke. He had started with Thomas Hennessy and Geo. Fisher for Big Bend with a boat containing about two tons of freight. Hennessy was in the boat and McPherson and Fisher were lining and just getting through Steamboat canyon, when a strong eddy was encountered, where the river bank was steep and stony. They were unable to hold the boat by the rope, and were pulled down to the water among the loose boulders.

Fisher let go of the line, and McPherson was told to do so, but he did not, keeping hold until he was drawn into the river. Hennessy then cried to him to hang on to the line and he would pull him aboard the boat, but he released his hold and tried to swim, but sank almost immediately, drawn down by the eddy and strong current running there. He rose once and cried out to his companions, but they could not understand what he said. Had he clung to the rope he could have been saved, as the boat was soon brought to the shore without damage to the contents. McPherson had been working for others during the summer, but Hennessy and he had arranged a partnership, and were just starting out to begin work on a placer claim. McPherson was from Seattle, and is said to have a family and other relatives there whom he recently visited.

A somewhat famous Frenchman who has devoted himself to the promotion of freer trade between this country and his own estimated nearly twenty years ago that the population of the United States would reach 100,000,000 at 24 minutes after five o'clock on July 24, 1903. He has recently, however, revised his estimate, and he now gives himself a wider range. He believes that the 100,000,000 will be reached between the years 1915 and 1920. All calculations on this subject for the past 50 years have been absurdly out, and the Frenchman's estimate [illegible] be revised again should immigration remain at its present low ebb for five years longer.—New York Sun.

A MILLIONAIRE'S WILL.

The Property Devised by the Late Hugh McCalmont.

By his will, dated July 13, 1886, with codicil made the 13th and 26th September, 1887, Mr. Hugh McCalmont, of 9 Grosvenor place, Abbeylands, country Antrim, and of the firm of McCalmont Brothers & Co., 122 Cannon street, who died on the 9th October, 1887, aged 87 years, leaving personal estate valued for probate at £3,121,931, bequeathed to his grand-nephew, Harry Leslie Blundell McCalmont, lieutenant Scots Guards, his watch and chain, jewellery and ornaments of the person and his home in Grosvenor place, and its furniture, conditional for seven years, with an annuity of £2,000 for the maintenance of the house and furniture during the seven years. The testator devised and bequeathed his residuary [illegible] trust for investment and to accumulate the income by reinvestment at compound interest for seven years after his death, and on the expiration of that period to hold the said residuary estate, with the accumulations of income and investment, in trust for his said grandnephew, Lieut. Harry Leslie McCalmont, absolutely, if he should then be living, or if he should not then be living, for Hugh McCalmont, Hugh Barklie Blundell McCalmont, and Barklie Cairns McCalmont, in equal shares. The fortune to which Mr. Harry Leslie Blundell McCalmont, the owner of Isinglass, will thus become entitled at some moment of time on Tuesday next, the 9th inst., will probably, with the seven years' accumulations at compound interest, be not much less than four millions sterling, and it is perhaps doubtful if any other person in this country will have so large a sum absolutely at his own disposal. Mr. Harry McCalmont was born in 1861, and is a widower.

"ECONOMIZING."

Finance ministers are naturally optimistic, and therefore it is not surprising to find Mr. Foster reported as talking in this way to a London interviewer:

"We are satisfied with the general outlook in Canada. We are coming through the depression more satisfactorily than most countries. This is evidenced by the trade returns. The tariff changes certainly were framed to encourage British trade. The fact that British exports to Canada declined is owing to the general tendency to economy and curtailed purchases, which is one of the most notable features of Canadian life just now. Moreover Canada yearly increases her own manufactures. It is emphatically true that Canada desires to strengthen her trade relations with the United Kingdom, the Australian and other colonies. The Ottawa conference emanated from that wish and developed a strong pro-English sentiment. Doubtless the tendency is to look away from the States, although our attitude to them is perfectly friendly. The Behring Sea arbitration happily removed the most debateable question. The tariff changes in both countries must help the interchange of trade and virtually constitutes a reciprocity treaty. Canada has responded as far as possible to every lowering of the United States duties."

Mr. Foster seems to have a little overdone the optimistic business, as the people of the country for which he is supposed to speak will be apt to testify of their own knowledge. Alongside his report of Canadian affairs appears this Ottawa paragraph, giving the results of the last three months' trade: "The trade returns for the quarter are not encouraging. The exports are valued at $54,555,471, a decrease of $4,480,080; the imports $30,903,398, a decrease of $5,000,000; duty collected $4,000,416, a decrease of $1,100,000." The English people who read Mr. Foster's remarks and then observe the statement of hard facts from his own department will very likely say that the minister did not lay the whole truth before them. A decrease of over seven millions in our trade in three months is certainly not encouraging. We may also observe that the decrease in the importations very largely accounts for the decrease in the revenue, so the tariff revision has not been so effective as some of the government organs would make it appear. The people, in fact, feel too poor to buy as largely as before, and are economizing, as Mr. Foster said. But how will the minister be able to meet this falling off in the revenue?

A CURIOUS PROCEEDING.

Property owners in New Denver have received the following notice, bearing [illegible] signature of Mr. Vernon as chief commissioner of lands and works:

Sir—The subjoined is a memorandum of the balance now overdue on the property purchased by you at the government sale of lots in the town of New Denver, held on the 20th day of July, 1892. Unless said balance is paid at this office on or before December 31st, 1894, together with interest at the rate of six per centum per annum, in accordance with the terms of sale, your claim will be cancelled and deposit forfeited. I have the honor to be, sir, your obedient servant.

Apropos of this the Slocan Times quotes section 36 of the land act, which reads: "The chief commissioner of lands and works may insert notices in the British Columbia Gazette, requiring all persons from whom the balance of purchase money is due on any lands pre-empted or purchased by them under any act or ordinance heretofore passed, to pay to the chief commissioner of lands and works, within 12 months from the first publication of such notice (and such notice shall be published continuously for such twelve months) the balance remaining unpaid of the purchase money due on such lands; and if, within such twelve months, any person holding land on which the balance of the purchase money is due to the government and unpaid, shall not pay such balance, the chief commissioner of lands and works may cancel all or any records or agreements concerning such land; and, in such case, the right of such person therein or thereto and all money paid by him thereon, shall be absolutely forfeited, and he shall have no further right at law or in equity to the land so partially paid for." As the Slocan Times puts it, this looks as though the department of lands and works had been trying "a gigantic bluff" on the New Denver owners. Was the ex-commissioner making one of his usual blunders when the notifications were sent out, or is the government so very hard up that it has decided to try a little sharp practice on the purchasers of New Denver lots? One or the other seems to have been the case, unless there is some special provision in the act making the section quoted inapplicable to the particular purchase. Even in that event it would look not a little strange to find the government pressing the purchasers so closely.

JAMES ANTHONY FROUDE.

Death Claims the Celebrated Historian and Essayist.

London, Oct. 20.—James Anthony Froude, the historian, who has been ill for several weeks past, died at 6.30 this morning.

James Anthony Froude, youngest son of the late Venerable R. H. Froude, archdeacon of Totnes, born at Darlington, Devonshire, April 23, 1818, was educated at Westminster and at Oriel college, Oxford, where he graduated in 1840, taking a second-class in classics, and he proceeded M.A. in due course. In 1842 he carried off the Chancellor's prize for an English essay on "The Influence of the Science of Political Economy on the Moral and Social Welfare of the Nation;" and in the same year he became a Fellow of Exeter College. He was ordained a deacon in the church of England in 1844. For some time he was connected with the High Church party under Rev. J. H. Newman, and wrote in "The Lives of the English Saints." Under the pseudonym of "Zeta" he published, in 1847, a volume entitled "Shadows of the Clouds," which comprised two stories—"The Spirit's Trials," and "The Lieutenant's Daughter." His "Nemesis of Faith" appeared in 1848, and reached a second edition in the following year. It marked his defection from the teaching of the Church of England, against whose reverence for what he called the "Hebrew Mythology," it is, inter alia, a protest. Both these works were severely condemned by the university authorities. About this time Mr. Froude resigned his Fellowship, and he was obliged to give up an appointment which he had received to a teachership in Tasmania. For two or three years he wrote almost constantly for Fraser's Magazine and the Westminster Review. One of his articles in the latter on the Book of Job has been reprinted in separate form (1854). In 1856 he published the first two volumes of his "History of England from the Fall of Wolsey to the defeat of the Spanish Armada," which has been continued from time to time, vols. 11 and 12 having been published in 1870, concluding the work. The materials for this history are mainly derived from the public documents of the time, and the boldness and originality of the author's views have attracted much attention. One of the most marked features of the work is an elaborate attempt to vindicate the reputation of Henry VIII. His "Short Studies on Great Subjects" appeared in 1867, being reprints of essays which had appeared in various periodicals. Mr. Froude was installed rector of the University of St. Andrew's, March 23, 1869, on which occasion the degree of LL.D. was conferred upon him. For a short time he was editor of Fraser's Magazine, but he resigned that position in August, 1871. On Sept. 21, 1872, taking advantage of the Clerical Disabilities Act, he executed a deed of relinquishment of the office of deacon. In the autumn of 1872 Mr. Froude went to the United States, where he delivered a series of lectures on the relations between England and Ireland. The burden of his addresses was that Irishmen had themselves, to a large extent, caused their country's prostration by their own intestine jealousies and want of patriotism. An animated controversy ensued between him and Father Thomas Burke, the Dominion orator. At the close of the year 1874 Mr. Froude was sent by the Earl of Carnarvon, secretary of state for the Colonies, to the Cape of Good Hope, to make inquiries respecting the late Caffre insurrection, and he returned to London in March, 1875. His later works are "The English in Ireland in the Eighteenth Century," 3 vols., 1871-74; "Caesar: a sketch," 1879; and "Reminiscences of the High Church Revival," a series of papers in Good Words (1881). Having been appointed executor to Thomas Carlyle, he published his [illegible] part of his biography, "Thomas Carlyle: a history of the first forty years of his life," 1882; and "Reminiscences of his Irish Journey in 1849," London, 1882. Mr. Froude's latest volume is "Oceana" (1886), an account of a voyage to Australia and elsewhere.

THE TOILERS OF THE SEA.

Terrible Experience of a Boat's Crew From the Sealing Schooner Fawn.

At Sea in an Open Boat for Five Days, and Three Without Food or Water.

The sealing schooner Fawn, Captain Keefe, arrived home from Behring sea at noon to-day with a catch of 1350 sealskins, 464 of which were taken in the sea and the remainder on the Japanese coast early in the season. Three of her men, Mate J. F. Noal and Seamen O'Toole and Lovely, will have very good cause to remember the season of 1894 in Behring Sea. They were lost from the schooner on Saturday Aug. 11, spent five days on the open sea in a cockle-shell of a boat, tossed and driven about by storms and gales, and were for three of the five days without food or drink. That they escaped death is wonderful. They left the schooner on Saturday, Aug. 11, and the observations of the day showed that they were in latitude 57:50 north and longitude 173:03 west, a point to the westward of the islands. That day a fog settled down about them, and all attempts to locate the schooner were fruitless. That night it came on to rain, and the wind began to blow from the southeast. There was nothing to do but run before it. The weather got very rough, and nearly every sea threw its spray over the boat, wetting the men to the skin. Mate Noal finally decided to unship the mast and use it for a drag to steady the boat. This was done and it was made fast astern. The boat ran seventy miles to the northwest before the gale subsided. The lunch box was empty on Saturday night, and on Sunday morning a crust of bread and water was all the men had. Then the water gave out and Monday morning found them famished with hunger and burning with thirst. Monday morning a sea bird was caught and Noal managed to set fire to the flooring of the boat, but they did little more than warm the meat of the bird. The meat was heartily enjoyed, however. They had a compass aboard, and when the wind subsided made sail to the southeast, hoping to make the islands Tuesday. They could resist the thirst no longer, and scooping up the salt sea water took long, deep draughts of it. They paid for their folly, for it only intensified their sufferings. After that, by the advice of Noal, they only dampened their lips and tongues. They had had two seals on Sunday, but lost them, or they would have had plenty of meat. Tuesday slowly dragged through, and nearly all aboard felt that a crisis was almost at hand. They could not live much longer without food, and felt that there was little hope for them ever being rescued or reaching land. No one had slept, and the watch Tuesday night was a terrible vigil. Wednesday was foggy, and they hardly knew where they were. They were making fair progress, holding the boat pointed to the southeast. At 5 that evening the fog lifted and right in plain sight ten miles to leeward were the bold outlines of St. George's Island. The men could hardly credit their senses. But their struggles were not over. The wind and tide were against them and, weakened as they were, they made very little progress rowing. They did little more than hold their position, and it was two o'clock next afternoon before they crawled out of the boat on to the beach. Two more seabirds fell victims. A huge crackling fire was made, the birds were properly dressed and cooked and the three castaways had a feast. They then rested and that night slept on board the United States cutter Corwin. On the latter they were kindly cared for and taken to Unalaska, where they were placed on the Pheasant. The latter vessel took them out and put them on the Fawn.

Mate Noal laughed a quiet laugh when a Times man talked to him this afternoon. Said he: "It would have been all right if we had anything to eat, or even if we had fresh water. It is terrible to be hungry but worse to be thirsty. It rained the first night, but there was so much salt spray in the air that it spoiled any we tried to catch. I was pretty well pleased when St. George's Island loomed up out of the fog. In another hour we would have been past it and would have had to go 150 miles farther to the next land. I do not know whether or not we would have made it."

The boat in which the castaways made their trip lies on the deck of the Fawn. It is a good-sized sealing boat, solidly built, and looks weatherbeaten. A [illegible] shows where Mr. Noel warmed the seabird. The Fawn reports that the Shelby was at Unalaska on September 15. The Fawn was two weeks on the coast and does not report any schooners.

AT PILOT BAY.

Progress Is Satisfactory—Queer Postal Arrangements.

At Pilot Bay a correspondent under date of 16th October writes that a letter of introduction forwarded on the day Miss Munsie left Victoria had taken thirteen days to reach its destination, that young lady having had her school open a week before its arrival.

The same community are well pleased at having a school, and general satisfaction is expressed in having such a capable and agreeable teacher.

The weather has been exceedingly fine and good progress has been made on the smelter. The general appearance of the place has assumed a shape that indicates an early date for the kindling of fierce fires to reduce the ores of Kootenay into merchantable commodities.

A. B. Hendryx, the manager of the K. M. and Smelting company, has provided temporary school accommodations, but it is intended to select a site upon the townsite and erect a school house.

The changes at Pilot Bay since July can only be appreciated by those conversant with the smelter enterprise and saw Pilot Bay after the flood and hurricane. Mr. Hendryx has displayed much energy in pushing forward his smelter and has won a host of friends by his neighborly acts and good business qualities. It is confidently expected that the smelter will do more for Kootenay in the development of its mines than any other enterprise.

Brief Locals.

—It is reported that a schooner has been wrecked on the west coast, but the name of the schooner is not known and the correctness of the report is questioned. The report was brought up by the Beatrice from the west coast, and it seems that a canoe load of Indians arrived at Quatsino and claimed to be the only survivors of a schooner that was lost out at sea. They said that she was the Kilmeny, but that schooner is safe and snug in port. Sealing men do not credit the story.

—There will no doubt be a big crowd at the drill shed on Monday night to hear Caesasa's band of forty pieces. There will be chairs to seat the people, but no reserved seats. The band will play a programme made up of popular and classical pieces. Among the members of the band are Will E. Bates, cornetist, Mrs. Bates, cornetist; F. K. Tobin, trombone soloist, and Edward Kent, clarinet soloist, all musicians of excellent ability and standing. The band will arrive on a special boat Monday afternoon.

Don't commit suicide on account of your "incurable" blood disease. The sensible thing for you to do is to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. If that fails, why, then—keep on trying, and it will not fail. The trouble is, people get discouraged too soon. "Try, try, try again."

He is there on business in connection with Indian affairs, and very likely will not be back for a week yet.

—Triumph lodge, No. 16, I. O. G. T., held its weekly meeting in Blue Ribbon Hall, Esquimalt, on Thursday evening. It being the occasion of a fraternal visit from Perseverance and Pride of the Ridge lodges a large gathering was in attendance. After the business was disposed of a very enjoyable programme was given by the following: Messrs. Mullins, Griffin, Terry, Ford, Redman, Watkins, Furnan, Tomlin, Connell, Scrace and Moody. Miss Isbister also contributed. Refreshments brought to a close an evening long to be remembered.

—The fact that "Charley's Aunt," after a long and successful season in New York, was taken to Hooley's theatre in Chicago and there enjoyed another remarkable run, speaks volumes in its support outside of the unanimous praise it has received from the press of both cities. Indeed, its record in this country, as well as in England, has been most remarkable. For two years in London it has held the stage, and now it looks as if it might, like "The Brook," run on forever. In Boston the people enjoyed it for months and are still laughing at its absurdly amusing situations, and its translation into German has been equally well received in Berlin. Africa, Australia, Sweden and Italy, have found in it the same enjoyable humor, and Paris, thus far the last to apply for its laughing privileges, will soon be given a French version of the most successful farce-comedy of the day. Brandon Thomas, the actor-author, will be remembered with pleasure as a member of the Rosina Vokes company on the occasion of its last presentation of the "Pantomime Rehearsal" in this country. Mr. Thomas has cleverly interwoven half a dozen pretty love stories in the development of the fun, which begins at the rise of the curtain. The engagement here is for Tuesday and Wednesday evenings next. There will also be a grand ladies' matinee on Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock.

—Bodie Davis, summoned for vagrancy, failed to put in an appearance in the police court this morning and a warrant for his arrest was issued. It is said that he has left the city.

—Miss Florence Wey, A. T. C. M., who for the past six years has been a highly successful teacher of the piano and harmony in the Toronto College of Music, has joined the staff of the Victoria College of Music, over Waitt's music store. —There will be a public meeting at the city hall this evening to make arrangements for the reception to be tendered Lord and Lady Aberdeen on the occasion of their visit. It is desired to have the city's welcome general and representative, and there should be a good turn out of citizens at to-night's meeting.

—The creditors of G. L. Simpson met yesterday. The report of stock taking was given, and it showed the assets to be $4667.33; cash in hand, $300, and outstanding accounts, $860, making a total of $5827.33. Instructions were given to close the business out before the end of the year. The liabilities, secured and unsecured, amount to a little more than $4000.

—The ladies of the Reformed Episcopal church intend holding their annual bazaar in Philharmonic hall on the first of November, and without exaggeration it will surpass anything of the kind yet given by these indefatigable church workers. —Victoria West lodge, I. O. G. T., will give a concert at Semple's hall, Craigflower road, this evening. Professor A. L. Francis will direct the affair, and among the features of the programme will be a song by Mrs. E. C. —The police have a very peculiar case on their hands. Henry A. Horne, who claims to have some authority from Chief Sheppard as a special officer, turned up at the city lockup yesterday afternoon with Andrew, an Indian, in his custody. He produced a bottle of whiskey, said he had found Andrew with it in his possession and had him locked up. It was learned that Horne had been parading his alleged authority around, and later in the day Constable Redgrave arrested ... charge of impersonating an officer. No informations were laid against either man, and will not be until Chief Sheppard returns to the city. Chief Sheppard may have told Horne to watch the men who sell whiskey to Indians, but it is improbable that the made him a special, as he has no authority to do so.

Tug Mogul Transferred this Morning to Her New Owners.

The tug Mogul was this morning transferred to the British Columbia Tug Boat company, limited, and registered at the custom house as a British vessel, and she will this afternoon go out for her trial trip with her new owners and a few friends aboard. Captain J. B. Libby, manager of the Puget Sound Tug Boat company, which formerly owned the Mogul, represented the company in the conclusion of the deal for the sale of the vessel, made several months ago. Extensive repairs have been made on the tug and she is now in first-class order. She will be commanded by Captain Henry Smith, formerly of the ... White, and will on Monday be ready for business. She will enter active competition for all kinds of towing, including deep water work, and will no doubt get her full share of the business.

THE MISSING IVANHOE.

Capt. J. B. Libby Believes That She Has Been Lost.

Capt. J. B. Libby, of the Puget Sound Tug Boat company, who is in the city, has the tug Pioneer outside the cape making a search for the missing ship Ivanhoe, and is anxiously awaiting advices, from her. Speaking to a Times man this morning he said:

"I instructed the captain of the Pioneer to run up along the west coast and keep a careful lookout for any wreckage and also to make all inquiries possible. I firmly believe that the Ivanhoe is lost. Colonel Frederic J. Grant, owner and editor of the Post-Intelligencer, was a personal friend of mine, as was Captain E. D. Griffin, and I deeply regret what has happened. I do not know what could have induced Mr. Grant to make the trip on the Ivanhoe. The ship was over 20 years old and there were any number of bigger and stronger vessels that he could have gone on. A number of ships which left the straits at the same time and after the Ivanhoe did have arrived at San Francisco, and I feel sure that something has happened. It may be that the crew are in boats or have been picked up, but time alone will tell that."

The revenue cutter Grant has been ordered by Secretary Carlisle to make a further search off Cape Flattery in search of the missing Ivanhoe.

SHE TOUCHED THE BOTTOM.

Ship Louis Walsh Drags Close to Shore in Esquimalt Harbor.

During the blow yesterday afternoon the ship Louis Walsh, which was discharging ballast preparatory to ... with the buoy to which she was moored. She went close to the shore and struck. The tug Lorne was sent for, and responding speedily towed her free and out to a point where there was no danger. The vessel was not damaged at all, for she merely "felt the bottom," as a shipping man expressed it to a Times reporter. The Walsh, as stated, was moored to a buoy out in the harbor, and had discharged nearly all her ballast, so she was very light and easily driven by the wind.

She is to be taken over to the marine railway and hauled out for a general cleaning and overhauling, and if any damage was done to her bottom it will be repaired at the same time. In connection with the matter of damage, it is said that the point where she touched is very flat and smooth, so that it would have been difficult to have inflicted any serious injury.

INDIAN PROVERBS.

II.

"Don't rouse the sleeping lion" is in Marathi idiom, "Don't excite a tiger." The tiger is understood as a fierce, merciless man whom it is not advisable to trifle with; for while the elephant is usually a type of greatness and nobility, the tiger is typical of fierceness and cruelty. This is so in the following saying: "If we address him as 'Mr. Tiger,' he will eat us." Politeness is thrown away in one who is so pitilessly cruel; and high-flown phrases uttered by a humble supplicant, will be ineffectual in averting the wrath of such a man. "Caught in a tiger's thicket" describes a person entangled in difficulties from which there is little hope of escape. The old fable of the lion and the mouse teaches a truth that is universally accepted. "The time came to the tiger and he supplicated the jackal for protection." Fierce and brutal as some men are while in power, the day may come when their very existence will depend on the word or behavior of an inferior. "Tigers do not live in flocks:" they do not go about peacefully together like sheep or cows. The idea suggested is that thieves, and other criminals are not found living in large numbers all near each other: they live and act separately, or in twos or threes. "If he could make up his mind he could kill a tiger," is a saying which refers to the person who has ability to do a thing if, as folks say, he could only make up his mind to do it. Nature's gifts are very fairly distributed, after all; how often it happens that the young fellow who has plenty of genius, is wanting in some other qualities without which his genius does not help him much; he has not in many cases decision of character or the power of applying himself to work. In these Indian proverbs a hit is often given at the man who is one thing in his home, another outside it. Some men are wonderfully fierce and brave in their own houses, especially if they have a meek and gentle wife, as in this case—"At home a tiger, outside a goat," for a man who is treated indifferently by his neighbors may go into his own house and give himself terrible airs, the wife and children may even be afraid of him and tremble at his coming, unless—here is the difficulty—unless it happen, as it often does, that the wife instead of being so meek and gentle, is just the reverse, then the case is very different and is spoken of thus: "A cow in his own house, a tiger outside it," or, as in another phrase where boasting is hinted at—"He can kill a tiger outside, but at home he cannot kill a rat." A warning against interfering in a quarrel, especially if the parties to it are influential people, is given as follows: "Who will interfere when the tigers are fighting?" If a third person attempt to come between them there will be a repetition of the old story of both the opponents turning round on him. "There is a famine of hair on the body of the bear," is a saying used ironically of a rich man who declared he was not worth a cent, which would be like a bear asserting that there was not a single hair on its body. A peculiar belief exists in India, that after the bear has once uttered its growl in attacking you, it becomes deaf, so that the only chance you have of frightening it away is to shout out before it begins to growl, that is to shout out while it has the power of hearing. This has given rise to a saying—"To call out before the bear does," and it is applied very neatly to what may be considered a much more sensible belief, which is that he who has the first word generally gets the advantage. Supposing some unpleasant circumstance has occurred, the account of it that is first given will fix itself in the mind, and when the opposite party comes with his story it will be received with a measure of incredulity: the moral of which is always try "to call out before the bear does." There are one or two sayings about the hare worth recording. "He is the hunter in whose hand is the hare;" not the man who boasts of his shooting, nor the man who is merely carrying firearms, but he who manages to secure the game is the real hunter, or at least this is the only hunting worth talking about, as in the proverb, "He plays well who wins." Another saying, "The hare was found at the stove" is used when a desired object is found exactly when and where needed. There was the stove ready for the cooking, and a hare was what was wanted, when, lo! there it was at the very spot. The only likeness it bears to the English "First catch your hare, then cook him," is that it speaks of a hare and cooking. Another saying —"If you go to hunt a [illegible] you arms sufficient to kill a tiger," which means to prepare for the worst and never underrate difficulties.

The donkey has existed in India from the most remote ages, and the putting on of wild animal's skin, and the braying are incidents common to stories in many languages. The following story is worth quoting: "In a certain village there was an ass, who during the day carried the bundles of a washerman. At night he followed his own inclinations. During his nocturnal rambles he formed an acquaintance with a jackal, in whose company he broke into enclosures and feasted on their contents. On one occasion, when in the middle of a cucumber field, the ass exulting with delight said to the jackal, 'Nephew, is not this a heavenly night; I feel so happy that I must sing a song. In what key will you prefer it?' The jackal replied, 'what nonsense, to be sure, when we are engaged in plundering to think of such a folly. Silence becomes thieves and libertines, as it is said. Let the sick man and the lazy refrain from stealing and chattering if they would escape with life. "If your song be ever so sweet, should the owner of the field hear you, he will rise and in his rage perhaps bind and kill you; eat [illegible] and remain silent. The ass replied, 'Nephew you can be no judge of the charms of music, having spent all your life in the woods. Observe, in the nights of autumn, in privacy with your love, the distant song of the singer drops like nectar into the ears.' The jackal answered 'May be so, uncle, but your voice is abominable, why should you let it lead you into trouble? The ass was highly affronted at this and said 'Away, you blockhead, do you dare to question my musical proficiency? I know every branch of the science; for instance there are seven notes, three scales, and 21 intervals. The scientific combination of those parts of music is particularly grateful in this autumn season.' 'Very well,' replied the jackal, let me get to the gate of the garden where I may see the gardener as he approaches, and then you can sing as long as you please.' So it was settled; and the jackal having provided for his own safety, the ass commenced his chant. The gardener, of course, was suddenly awakened by the racket, and arming himself with a stick, repaired to the spot, and began belaboring the ass till he was exhausted. He then tied him to a post, after which he returned home and went to sleep. The ass came to himself and forgot the pain, in the recollection of his home and companions. 'As it is said, 'on a dog, a mule and an ass, a good beating leaves but a momentary impression.' Accordingly, springing up, he broke loose and got out of the garden. As he ran off, the jackal met him and said, 'Bravo, uncle, you would sing your song though I dissuaded you, and you see what a splendid encore you have received as the recompense of your performance.'"

A BY-LAW.

To Authorize the Sale of Lands Within the City of Victoria upon which Taxes have been due and in arrear for two years.

Whereas it is expedient that all lands or improvements or real property within the limits of the Corporation of the City of Victoria, upon which municipal taxes have been due and in arrear for two years, shall be sold, and the proceeds applied in the reduction of such taxes:

Be it therefore enacted by the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the City of Victoria as follows:—

1. The Collector of the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the City of Victoria is hereby authorized and directed whensoever taxes on any land or improvements or real property have been due for two years preceding the current year, to submit to the Mayor of the City of Victoria a list, in duplicate, of all the lands or improvements or real property liable, under the provisions of this by-law, to be sold for taxes, with the amount of arrears against each lot set opposite to the same, and the Mayor shall authenticate such list by affixing thereto the seal of the Corporation and his signature, and one of such lists shall be deposited with the Clerk of the Corporation, and the other shall be returned to the collector with a warrant thereto annexed under the hand of the Mayor and the seal of the Corporation, commanding him to levy upon the land or improvements or real property for the arrears due thereon with his costs.

2. It shall not be the duty of the collector to make inquiry before effecting a sale of lands or improvements or real property for taxes, to ascertain whether or not there is any distress upon the land, nor shall he be bound to inquire into or form any opinion of the value of the land or improvements or real property.

3. The collector shall prepare a copy of the list of lands or improvements or real property to be sold, and shall include therein, in a separate column, a statement of the proportion of costs chargeable on each lot for advertising and for the commissions authorized by this by-law to be paid to him, and shall cause a copy of such list to be printed for a period of one month preceding the date of such intended sale in some newspaper published in the City of Victoria.

4. The advertisement shall contain a notification that unless the arrears and costs are sooner paid he will proceed to sell the lands or improvements or real property for the taxes on a day, a time, and at a place named in the advertisement.

5. The collector shall at least two months before the time of sale, also deliver to or deposit in the post office to the address of the owner of such property which is to be sold for taxes aforesaid, or to the agent of such owner, a notice in writing of the amount of taxes due, and that the property is to be sold for arrears so due, and in case the address of the owner or agent is unknown, a notice to the same effect shall be posted upon the land intended to be sold, and also at least two months before the time of sale, post a notice similar to the above advertisement in some convenient and public places, that is to say, at the Council Chambers, Victoria, and in the Post Office Building, Victoria.

6. The day of sale shall the the thirty-third day after the first publication in a newspaper of such list, exclusive of the day of such publication, except in case the thirty-third day shall fall on a Sunday or holiday, in which case such sale shall take place on the following day at the Council Chambers, in the City of Victoria, and shall begin at 12 o'clock noon.

7. If at any time appointed for the sale of the lands or improvements or real property, no bidder appear, the collector may adjourn the sale from time to time.

8. If the taxes have not been previously collected, or if no one appears to pay the same at the time and place appointed for the sale, the collector shall sell at public auction so much of the land or improvements or real property as may be sufficient to discharge the taxes and all lawful charges incurred in and about the sale and the collection of the taxes, selling in preference such part as he may consider best for the owner to sell first, and in offering such lands or improvements or real property for sale, it shall not be necessary to describe particularly the portion of the lot or section which shall be sold, but it will be sufficient to say that he will sell so much of the lot or section as shall be necessary to secure the payment of the taxes due, and the amount of taxes stated in the advertisement shall in all cases be prima facie evidence of the correct amount due.

9. If the collector fails at such sale to sell such land or improvements or real property for the full amount of arrears of the taxes due, he shall at such sale adjourn the same until a day be publicly named by him, not earlier than one week nor later than three months thereafter, of which adjourned sale he shall give notice by advertisement [illegible] in which the original notice was advertised, and on such day he shall sell such lands or improvements or real property for any sum he can realize, and shall accept such sum as full payment for such arrears of taxes.

10. If the purchaser of any property or parcel of land fails immediately to pay the collector the amount of the purchase money, the collector shall forthwith again put up the property for sale.

11. Immediately after every sale the collector shall return a list of the arrears satisfied by such sale to the Clerk of the Corporation, and shall at the same time pay in the proceeds to the Treasurer of the said Corporation.

12. The collector shall be entitled to five per centum commission upon the sums collected by him as aforesaid.

13. This by-law may be cited for all purposes as "The Victoria Real Estate Tax Sale By-Law, 1894."

Passed the Municipal Council the 15th day of October, A. D. 1894.

Reconsidered, adopted, and finally passed the Council this 18th day of October, A. D. 1894.

VERNON "SPORTS."

They Ran up Against an Indian Cayuse and Were Surprised.

The Siwashes were out in force at last week's races and enjoyed a good view of the proceedings from their own grand stand on the hill whence they could overlook the grounds without being compelled to donate the four bits necessary to secure an entrance through the gates. In consequence of some remarks dropped by them it became whispered about among local sports that there was a pretty good opportunity to get up a race with the Indians and "clean them out" of the surplus cash which they had acquired by hop picking. Accordingly "Spokane," the race horse, was taken out to the reserve and a two mile race arranged with Autoine's gray, upon which the Siwashes expressed themselves willing to place their money. Owing to the rider of the Indian horse falling off while on the home stretch, Spokane won, but not content with their victory his backers arranged another race for the next day, when a number of sportsmen eager to "do up" the natives, went out again, and so eager were they to get up their money, that when the cash of the Indians ran out they wagered their coin against Siwash horses, saddles or any other property of a portable nature which could be produced. When all the bets that could possibly be obtained were made, the horses were turned loose, and much to the surprise and vexation of the sports, the little Indian cayuse came in an easy winner, and the crestfallen crowd returned to Vernon considerably lighter in pocket than when they left. The general verdict is "served them right."

FROM THE INTERIOR.

Miscellaneous Notes From the Okanagan and Kootenay Countries.

Vernon News.

The oats exhibited by Mr. L. Girouard at the show, which captured first prize, weighed 48 pounds to the bushel.

A fine catch of fish was on view at Mr. Cann's bookstore this week. They were trout caught in Long Lake, and averaging over 7 pounds each, four of them weighing 30 pounds.

The last shipment from which returns have been received from the Skylark mine, on Boundary creek, assayed 220 ounces in silver and $26 in gold. Another lot is now at the smelter and there are about 22 tons at the mine and on the way to the railroad.

Wild geese are not nearly as plentiful this fall as usual. Weather prophets say that they have not come down from the north in any great numbers yet, and on this base their predictions of an open fall.

Over a thousand new names have been added to the Dominion voter's list for this riding, and many of the names of the list of 1891 have been dropped on account of absence from the county and other causes. During his recent visit Judge Walkem consulted with several gentlemen from various sections of the district and arranged the different subdivisions in accordance with their advice. The polling stations will be fixed later on, by the Dominion authorities.

There has been altogether too much drinking going on among the Siwashes lately, and though the authorities appear to be doing their best to stop the traffic in intoxicants which is very apparently being carried on to a considerable extent, they have not yet been able to put their hands on the guilty parties. During the fair week drunken Siwashes were holding high carnival on the outskirts of the city and it appeared to be a common form of amusement among them to attempt to ride over pedestrians at night. The extra number of special policemen held them well in check, but several disturbances occurred in one of which an Indian's horse was shot.

Nakusp Ledge.

Several small ledges of gold bearing mineral have been uncovered on Cariboo creek during the week.

The Alpha mine at Silverton will suspend operations in a short time. The owners have already shipped enough ore to pay for the property, and do not care to sell any more until silver advances, as they do not feel like sacrificing a good thing when they have it.

Next Tuesday a number of the officials of the C. P. R. will visit Nakusp and go over the railway to the end of the track. Nothing definite can be learned as to whether the line to Three Forks will be operated this winter or not, but as the C. P. R. are making contracts to haul ore from the Slocan all winter it is easy to suppose that they intend to keep the cars moving without cessation.

The placer miners on Cariboo creek have been playing in hard luck of late. A month ago high water destroyed almost all the improvements, and now a second flood has totally wrecked everything. Last week it snowed heavily in the hills, followed by warm weather. This caused the biggest flood of the year, the water raising as much as three feet in four hours. The Bridge gang have pluckily begun all over again, repairing their shaft, dam and wheel, as has also J. McDonald. N. Demars has his wing dam finished. The Goat Canyon Company have stopped operations for the season, their dam and boxes having been carried away and their shaft flooded. They had bottomed on six feet of pay dirt, but were compelled to abandon the work. Many other companies suffered loss through the floods.

This week's ore shipments from Nakusp mark the closing of the big contract with the Alpha, and the commencement of a smaller one with the Mountain Chief. As with the former, the latter sends its ore to the Grant-Omaha works at Omaha, Neb. The Lytton took up 37 1-2 tons of the Alpha article on Monday, making close to 800 tons sent out. Tuesday evening 50 tons came in from the Mountain Chief by train, to be followed by regular shipments. At the end of the month the Slocan Star will begin shipping, to be augmented by numerous other properties. Other shipments last week consisted of 20 tons from the Le Roi mine, on Trail creek, to Everett, and 20 tons to East Helena; and 30 tons from the Josie mine to Tacoma. A new shipper has appeared, in the Stanley mine, on 12-Mile creek, near Kaslo, which forwarded 29 tons to Great Falls by way of Kaslo and Nelson. The value of these shipments was $6400.

Kaslo Times.

The Rev. Mr. Gable is suffering from a severe attack of inflammation of the bowels. His condition gave rise to some apprehension last night, but he is better to-day.

Thirty-six tons of ore left Silverton for Omaha from the Alpha mine to-day. Seven hundred and forty-one tons of ore have been shipped up to now. There has been a cavein at the mouth of the tun- [illegible] at the present time.

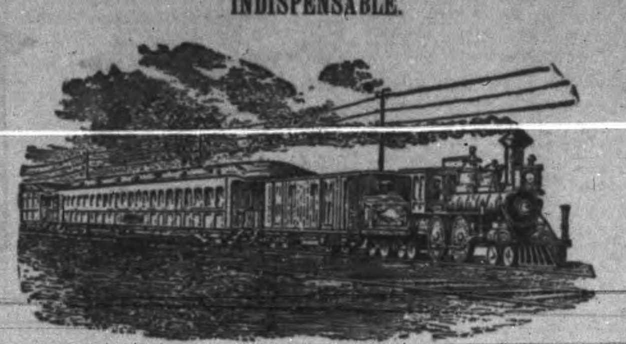
Byron N. White has contracted for the delivery of one thousand tons of ore at Three Forks before the 1st day of January. The teams will begin to haul the ore on or about the first of December and will haul 30 tons a day at least. The mine will ship not less than three thousand tons if transportation facilities are available. But Byron White does not venture without knowing what he can do.

The railway track is now opposite the Mountain Chief trail. As soon as one more bridge is completed ore will be packed from the Chief to the grade and shipped. The shipments will aggregate at least 500 tons and will all go by way of Nakusp. Ore will be kept moving by way of Revelstoke till the 15th of January at least, and probably all winter. When the track reached Slocan lake it found ore waiting for it from the Grady group. When it goes two miles up the canyon ore is lying on the grade for it from the Mountain Chief. Another mile and a half and it can handle one hundred thousand feet of lumber and the heavy machinery for a 100-ton concentrator, besides taking the Idaho basin ore out. At Three Forks over [illegible] have been patiently waiting the arrival of the road for over nine months, and the whole of Cody creek is ready to pour down its wealth by the thousands of tons. It is a magnificent outlook.

Dangers Ahead of the Iron Steed.

Locomotive Engineers and Their Tremendous Responsibilities.

A CLEAR HEAD, STEADY NERVES AND KEEN EYES ARE INDISPENSABLE.



Of the thousands of men, women and children who daily travel over our great net work of Canadian railways, few, very few, realize the many dangers and perils that are at all times ahead of the swift and powerful steam horse.

Swing bridges, tunnel bridges, spans of mouldering and rotten timbers, washouts, misplaced switches, broken rails, wrong signals and errors in train despatching; all, in turn, contribute to scenes of ruin, agony and death. Communities and nations are frequently appalled when some awful catastrophe has occurred—some train tumbling into a chasm, canyon or river, and hundreds of souls launched into eternity.

Locomotive engineers shoulder tremendous responsibilities as their impetuous iron steeds bound through cities, towns, forests, mountain passes, and over rapid streams and torrents. While they hourly carry their own lives in their hands, they are really the custodians of other people's lives.

Notwithstanding the fact that parliament has enacted laws for the protection of railway travellers, and that progressive and honest railway corporations have in use the most modern appliances that can conduce to the safety of trains; yet, with all these measures of protection, the engineer is the all important agent. He must have courage, good judgment, a clear head and brain, steady nerves and a quick eye, in order to insure safety to all who are compelled to use our fast expresses and mail trains.

Fortunately for us, the large majority of our locomotive engineers possess all the necessary qualifications for their important work. They shun strong drink and evil habits, and as a rule they keep themselves in good health. When any troubles arise, when symptoms of sickness and disease are felt, the wise and prudent engineer has his friend and protector, Paine's Celery Compound, near him in his cab. As he uses the lever of his engine to regulate its movements, so he uses Paine's Celery Compound to banish the seeds of disease and to regulate all the movements of the intricate machinery of the nervous system and brain, from which originate the majority of human troubles.

By adopting this wise course, the body is strengthened, digestion is kept perfect, nerves are steady and reliable, the eyes are keen and the judgment is always right.

An old railway official recently remarked: "Locomotive engineers who are teetotalers, and who use Paine's Celery Compound when physical derangements occur, are the men most appreciated by railway companies, as they contribute more to the safety of trains and human lives than any other class of employes." The truth of this statement is apparent to all who are fully posted in railway matters, and who fully understand the heavy responsibilities of engineers.

The above important facts should deeply interests all whose work and duties call for clearness of head and brain, steady nerves and general good health. Success, in these days of rush and cutting competition, can never be achieved in any department of work by sickly, nervous and dull-brained men. Paine's Celery Compound does the same for professional men, merchants and mechanics that it does for the brave man who controls the powerful steam steed, and who daily has the safety of hundreds in his hands.

NOW CHINA'S TURN.

The Japanese Said to Have Been Defeated in a Recent Battle on the Yalu.

Corean Natives Grow More Restless Under Japan's Rule—A Fresh Rebellion.

London, Oct. 20.—A Times Tientsin correspondent says China desires peace because, though aware of her immense reserves of strength, she would willingly avoid the sacrifices, risks and expense of bringing them into action. She will, however, face a long war resolutely and will rally such forces as will render a Japanese conquest impossible, though the effort may exhaust both sides.

A dispatch to the Times from Santiago says the Chilean government has finally decided to refuse China's offer to purchase six warships.

Berlin, Oct. 20.—This semi-official statement has been made concerning affairs in Pekin: "Sir Robert Hart, inspector general of customs for the Chinese government, has directed the government's attention to the enormous reduction of customs receipts. The exports have ceased almost entirely and the exports have decreased greatly. Sir Robert was consulted as to the expediency of using customs steamers as military transports. He replied that this would be impossible, as the steamers had no proper fittings, and neither guns nor gunners nor Chinese officers were available.

London, Oct. 20.—A Tokio dispatch says that forty thousand Japanese troops under command of Marshal Count Ouyama have left Hiroshima on a fleet of thirty-five transports for a destination not known.

A Yokohama dispatch says several hundred Coreans have rebelled in the province of Chal Lado, and that a combined Corean and Japanese force has been sent to quell the uprising. The Coreans have become restless under Japanese rule.

A Shanghai dispatch gives a Chinese report of a battle fought on the banks of the lower Yalu, in which the Japanese troops, who made the attack, were repulsed with heavy losses. It is added that neither side claims a definite victory. It is believed the Japanese will declare an effective blockade of the Gulf of Pichili.

A Tientsin dispatch reports large quantities of munitions of war arriving there from Germany, which are being forwarded to New Chang and Port Arthur.

London, Oct. 20.—A Chee Foo dispatch says the Chinese fleet, completely refitted, has sailed from the harbor. It is reported the Japanese warships are cruising about Ping Yang inlet. A large force of Corean natives from Tong Han is threatening Seoul.

Shanghai, Oct. 20.—Four of the warships of the Chinese southern squadron have arrived at Wei Hai Wei.

NANAIMO NEWS.

Breach of Postal Law—A Boy's Find—Church Too Small.

Nanaimo, Oct. 20.—Another case of a breach of the Postoffice Act was tried before Magistrate Planta yesterday. Mr. E. H. Fletcher, P. O. Inspector, prefered the charge against J. W. Lang, who pleaded guilty to enclosing a letter in a parcel and posting the same at Victoria. Lang explained that he committed the wrong in utter ignorance of the act. The postoffice inspector said he did not wish to press the case, but the department was determined to put a stop to such breaches of the law. Mr. Fletcher having stated that the department would be willing to forego any claim for expenses in this case as it was the first to be tried in Nanaimo. The object was to show the public plainly what the law was in this connection. A fine of $15 was imposed.

A few boys were proceeding along the mill stream on Thursday afternoon when they observed something of a suspicious character a little way in front of them. Some of the boys were about to retreat but one, who was a little bolder and carried a gun, was determined to investigate, which he accordingly proceeded to do. What he found was an effete lady's costume, including underclothes, hat and blankets. The police were informed of the circumstance and are investigating the matter, as the clothing was of such a quality that is not usually thrown away.

The contract for the enlargement of the Haliburton street Methodist church has been let, and the work will be proceeded with at once. The growth of this church has been so rapid that the present building is too small to accommodate their large congregation.

—The sealing schooner Beatrice, Captain Macaulay, arrived home last night from a sealing cruise in Behring Sea. She got 358 skins on the coast in the first part of the season and 1160 in the sea after August 1, making her total catch 1518 skins. Of her catch in the sea nearly all of her skins were taken in August, only 300 being speared in September. The Beatrice had an uneventful trip except for bad weather. She had to go to Unalaska for water, and once in there was windbound for several days by a howling gale. She made the run to the west coast in 13 days, only to get caught in another gale. She docked at Grant's wharf this morning and discharged her skins. They are a fine lot of skins and came out in good order.

—Louis Caffray, the insane boy from Scoke, of whom mention was made in the Times last evening, was taken to Westminster asylum this morning by Superintendent Hussey of the provincial police. He was examined yesterday by Drs. John Duncan and Corsan, and the physicians after satisfying themselves as to his insanity, signed the necessary papers. The boy is but 15 years of age and according to his mother's story, was weak-minded when a baby. As a baby and even up to a few years ago he was easy to control, but he passed that stage and became a constant source of trouble. He once set fire to the barn on his father's ranch, and but for the early discovery of the flames the building and contents would have been destroyed. He created a terrible hubbub in the provincial lock-up last night, yelling nearly all night. He will be one of the youngest, if not the youngest, patients in the asylum.
